Introducing Irony
Maxwell Bodenheim (1892 - 1954)

Maxwell Bodenheim was once known as the King of Greenwich Village Bohemians after moving to New York after being one of the founders of the The Chicago Literary Times. But his life took a downward spiral and he became a panhandler and led a desultory life, finally ending in his murder along with his third wife in a Bronx apartment. The title of this book characterizes the tone of these 22 poems and 10 small stories, full of dark cynicism and twisted irony, with titles such as “Seaweed From Mars” and “Insanity.” - Summary by Larry Wilson

Read by Volunteer Readers. Total running time: 02:21:28

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.

Image by SBM: https://pixabay.com/photos/nothing-is-written-in-stone-rock-527756/. Copyright expired in US, Canada, EU, and all countries with author’s life +70 yrs laws Cover design by TriciaG. This design is in the public domain.